

MALLEE PLANTS (see also MYRTACEAE - Eucalypts)

Durham G (2001) Wyperfeld – Australia's first mallee national park. Friends of Wyperfeld National Park, Elstonwick, Victoria. 200 pp. ISBN 0646401017.

A general guide to the Park and its flora and fauna. Only 15 pages or so are relevant to plant identification, but these contain a short species list, and plain-English descriptions of 36 conspicuous species of trees and shrubs, with good line drawings.

McCann I (1989) The Mallee in flower. Victorian National Parks Association, Melbourne. 120 pp. ISBN 1875100016.

Has a Victorian emphasis, but useful for southern NSW, this guide covers more than 400 prominent species, with colour illustrations. Common and scientific names are given, with a statement of habit, flowering season, and distribution within mallee reserves. Lacks good written descriptions.

Weare P (1988) Australian wildflowers. Collins, Sydney. 224 pp. ISBN 073220027X.

Good-quality watercolours of many mallee species of western NSW, sadly with very little text information.
